Bali Volcano Toll Exceeds 1,200 Since Lava Flow Started Sunday

By KARSTEN PRAGER

BEKASI, Bali (AP)—A vast moonscape of death stretches around this northeast Bali village in the shadow of Agung Volcano, whose fury has killed more than 1,200 people since Sunday.

Not a touch of green remains here, five miles from the top of the 10,306-foot mountain which the Balinese believe is the seat of the gods.

Trees are stripped of their leaves. Branches are caked white with volcanic dust. The lovely terraced rice paddies lie under a smooth gray surface of brimstone.

A few solitary people who have refused to be evacuated silently clear small garden plots of rocks and dig up soil in which all plants have died.

There is an eerie silence. That is how it looked Friday in Bali's northeast corner where Agung — listed in guide books as inactive — showered hot ash and lava on an unsuspecting people early Sunday.

The official death toll stood at 1,264. The Bali government reported 64 people were injured and said 75,000 are refugees. The number of missing was not determined.

The government also announced that another 65,000 people will have to be evacuated soon from five districts within eight to 10 miles south of the mountain. A number of bridges are endangered by the push of cooling lava.

A volcano expert on duty near the mountain predicted the volcano, which first erupted in February after more than 100 years of silence, would probably continue to erupt for at least another two months.

The angry mountain shrouded its face behind the clouds for most of the day. When the clouds drifted away late in the afternoon a huge column of smoke was revealed billowing toward the east. But the lava flow appeared to have stopped.

U.S.-Soviet
Berlin Talks
Will Resume

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new round of talks between the United States and the Soviet Union will open here next Tuesday to see if there is any hope of trying to settle the long-smouldering Berlin issue.

The State Department disclosed that arrangements have been made for a meeting between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

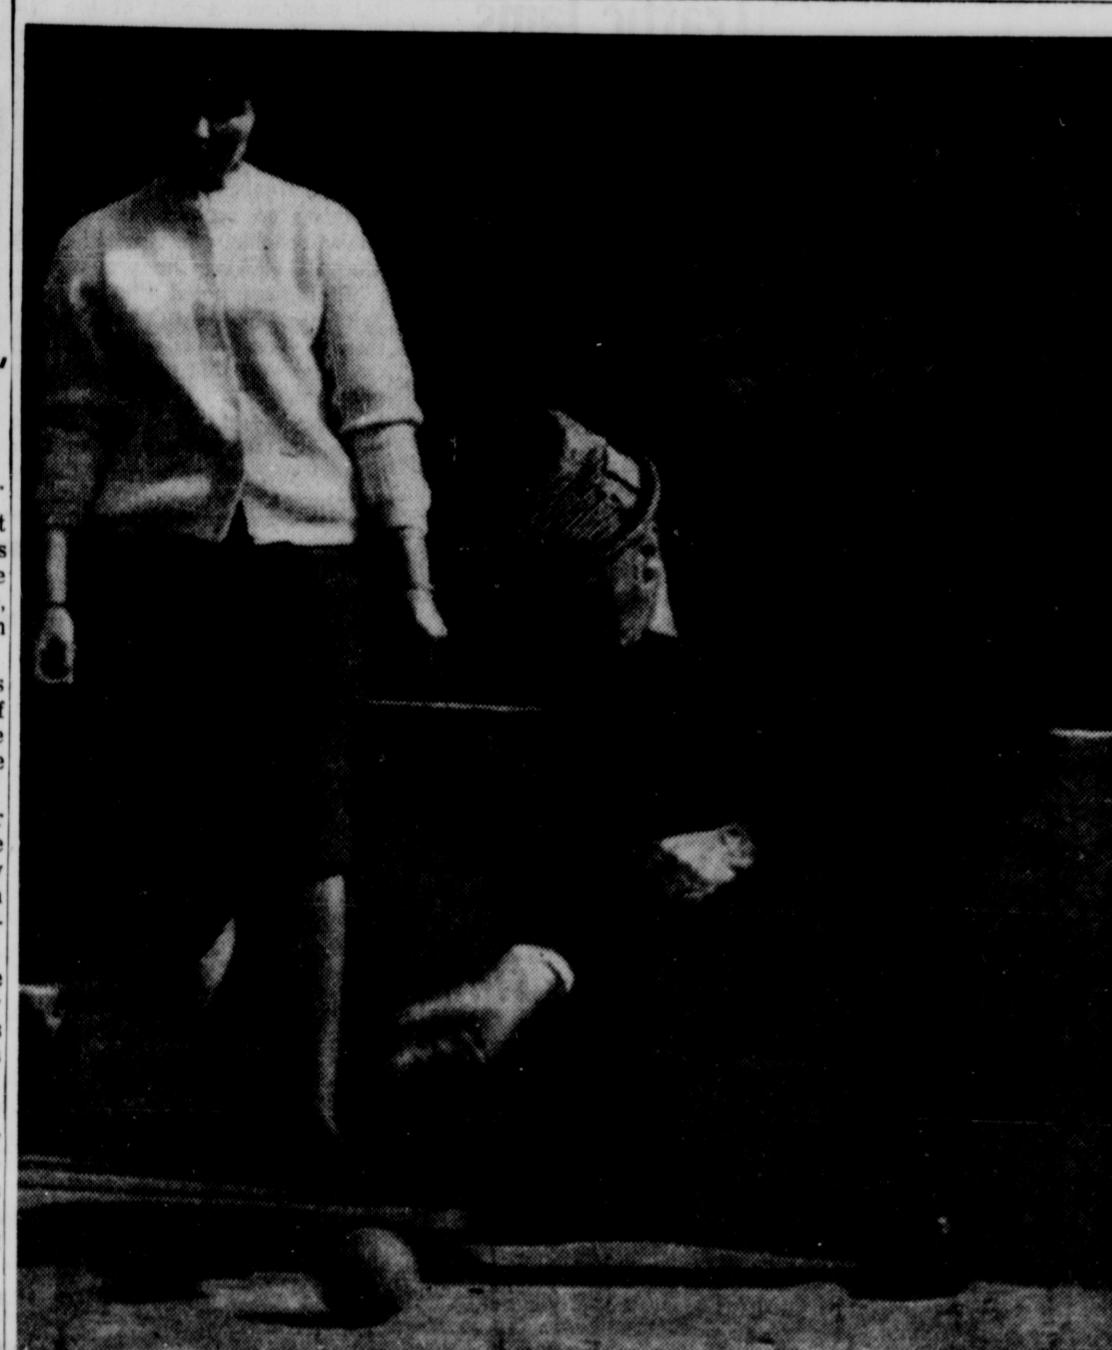

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said the purpose of their talk will be exploratory—to see whether East-West negotiations on Berlin are possible.

Next week's meeting is the result of a suggestion originally advanced by Moscow in late January, but U.S. officials are not optimistic about the outlook.

Some of them suggest that Soviet Premier Khrushchev may even be trying to stir up new trouble by pressing unacceptable demands on the West.

Communists
Will Convene
In Sao Paulo

BRASILIA (UPI) — President Joao Goulart Friday approved plans of hemisphere Communists to hold an anti-American States conference in Sao Paulo starting next Monday.

The president's decision was announced by his press secretary, Paul Ryff, who has been accused in the past of pro-Communist sympathies.

Goulart's action was taken in the face of efforts of a Brazilian economic delegation in Washington to get the U.S. to give Brazil $500-million in new aid, and to postpone Brazilian repayment of some $1.5-billion already owed the U.S.

Ryff said Goulart "will not interfere in any way" with the Communist get-together, billed as an anti-American pro-Castro "solidarity" congress. The hemisphere's leading Communists will attend the congress, which will start in the industrial city of Sao Paulo but shift later to Rio de Janeiro.

Cooper May Orbit Earth 22 Times

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Missiles Friday completed installation of the modified Atlas rocket astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. is scheduled to ride into orbit in about six weeks.

If all goes well, the 36-year-old Air Force major will make 22 trips around the world in a little more than 34 hours, and return for a landing in the Pacific Ocean near Midway Island. It would be the longest space ride ever taken by an American.

Cooper's booster rocket, which arrived at the cape Monday, was hoisted onto launching pad No. 14 Thursday, informed sources said. The finishing touches were put on the installation Friday.

Still ahead is the critical task of placing Cooper's bell-shaped Mercury space capsule atop the silvery rocket. That will take place sometime in April, barring further schedule setbacks.

Eagerly awaiting the report are congressional foes who have pledged efforts to cut the budget request heavily.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chief of a special, 10-member task force appointed by the President, and David E. Bell, new director of the Agency for International Development, gave Kennedy the replacement port at the White House. It will be made public Saturday night.

He testified Kasoci offered him money to kill the girl but at first he refused because "I was a friendly crocodile who ate only fish."

But after persistent requests, Chipandale said he agreed to murder the girl for $12.60. But he testified Kasoci paid him only $1.40 for the job.

Several witnesses testified Thursday they believed Chipandale could turn himself into a crocodile by magic, although no one had seen him do it.

The case came to notice in August 1960, 16 months after the girl died, when Chipandale sued Kasoci in a native court for the blood money.

Special Report
Seen Sparking
Foreign Aid Row

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Friday received a report from a special White House task force that promised to spark a major row in Congress over the U.S. foreign aid program.

The report, showing the results of a three-month, top-to-bottom evaluation of the aid program, is said to be critical of the way some funds are handed out.

But it reportedly recommends no major, immediate cut in the President's request for $4,945,025,000 to spend next year on foreign aid.

War Minister
Strikes Back
At Many Rumors

By TOM OCHILTREE

LONDON (AP) — War Minister John Profumo struck back Friday at a flood of rumors linking his name with a missing good-time girl by saying he knew the baby-faced model but their relationship was entirely proper.

Fighting to protect his political career, Profumo, 48, told the House of Commons he last saw party-loving Christine Keeler more than 14 months ago and knows nothing of her present whereabouts.

The minister threatened legal action if "scandalous allegations are made or repeated outside this House" suggesting that he was perverting justice by helping keep Christine out of sight when she should have appeared in court.

Denies Link

By implication, Profumo also denied that Christine, 20, had served as a social link between himself and a Soviet diplomat.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, seated on a front bench, was within arm's reach as Profumo delivered his two-minute statement in a grave, firm voice.

The war minister's beautiful wife, former actress Valerie Hobson, looked down from a solitary place in the gallery, her expression dignified and composed.

Aides of Macmillan said Profumo is not expected to resign. The fact Macmillan sat near him was interpreted in government circles as a gesture of friendliness and support.

Profumo's statement answered rumors which flooded Britain after Christine failed to turn up as a government witness a week ago at the trial of her discarded Jamaican lover, John Edgecombe. She also failed to show up in court last Wednesday. Police still have found no trace of her.

Edgecombe, 30, a Negro, was arrested last January after trying to shoot his way into a West End apartment occupied by Christine and a girl friend.

Gets Seven Years

Without Christine's testimony, the court sentenced him last Friday to seven years in prison for possessing a firearm with intent to endanger life. The judge dismissed a charge of shooting with intent to murder her.

Profumo spoke bitterly of statements made by three Laborites — George Wigg, Richard Crossman and Barbara Castle — in the House of Commons Thursday night under protection of parliamentary privilege.

The report, showing the results of a three-month, top-to-bottom evaluation of the aid program, is said to be critical of the way some funds are handed out.

But it reportedly recommends no major, immediate cut in the President's request for $4,945,025,000 to spend next year on foreign aid.

Salinger Denies News Management

Contends Media
Determine What Will Be Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House press secretary Pierre Salinger described Friday as totally untrue allegations of news management by the Kennedy administration.

Salinger said he was talking and working for freedom of information "long before some of the 'Johnny-come-latelies' who have recently taken up the cudgels in this crusade."

In a speech at a luncheon of the Women's National Press Club, Salinger said there is only one legitimate place where news can be "managed" — at the desks of newspaper city and managing editors and at the desks of radio and television news directors.

"It is these editors who in the long run should determine what their readers will read and what their listeners and viewers hear," he said. "And it is here, I believe, that the really fundamental study should be made to determine whether news is being 'managed' in the public interest."

By large, Salinger said, he believes "the news is being managed fairly by the news organizations," but he said there are "many glaring examples" to the contrary.

Salinger said the phrase "news management" was coined by James Reston of the New York Times in 1955 — in a discussion of the information activities of the Eisenhower administration, not the Kennedy administration.

"Those who keep throwing around charges of 'news management' in my opinion, make an inferred and serious charge against the journalism profession," Salinger said.

What they are saying in effect is that the great body of Washington reporters are stupid dupes who can be manipulated and misled by clever government press men. Nobody who has spent more than a month in Washington really believes this and the many distinguished reporters in Washington should seriously resent the charge.

"The government cannot and could not present a false image to the public. The activities in Washington and around the world are too closely covered by the press to make this possible, even should an administration have such a desire — and I assure you that has not been and never will be the policy of the administration."

Edgecombe, 30, a Negro, was arrested last January after trying to shoot his way into a West End apartment occupied by Christine and a girl friend.

But it reportedly recommends no major, immediate cut in the President's request for $4,945,025,000 to spend next year on foreign aid.

Accused Child Killer Says He Became Crocodile By Ghost-Taught Magic

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (UPI)—A man accused of killing a child by dragging her into a river while disguised as a crocodile testified Friday he had changed himself into a crocodile through magic taught him by a witch doctor's ghost.

Elard David Chipandale, 35, said, however, he could not change into a crocodile before the court because he "threw away my magic powers when arrested" on the murder charge. He said he could not testify in "crocodile language" for the same reason.

Chipandale is charged with murdering 8-year-old Mponde Lyton. Also on trial is the girl's grandfather, Odreck Kasoci.

Chipandale told the court his witch doctor uncle's ghost taught him to tie certain "magic twigs and bark" to his body, transforming him into a crocodile.

LONDON (AP) — War Minister John Profumo struck back Friday at flood of rumors linking his name with a missing good-time girl by saying he knew the baby-faced model but their relationship was entirely proper.

Profumo spoke bitterly of statements made by three Laborites—George Wigg, Richard Crossman and Barbara Castle—in the House of Commons Thursday night under protection of parliamentary privilege.

The Laborites demanded an official probe of the case and Mrs. Castle referred to "the missing witness—the missing call girl." Mrs. Castle and Wigg made reference then to an unnamed government minister.

While recommending "substantive" personnel cuts in aid missions, the group led by Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., urged the priority assistance be given to Indonesia because of its potential future influence in Asia.

At the same time the senators urged that a "hard look" be given to the size of the U.S. military outlay in Taiwan (Formosa) and Korea "in relation to the results obtained."

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, made the month-long trip with McGee last December. They visited Indonesia, Malaya, America, Samoa, New Guinea, Cambodia, Viet-Nam, Laos, the Philippines, Guam, Taiwan, Korea and Japan.

The vice president presented the first detailed comparison by a high administration official of the present period of preoccupation with the dollar aspects of space.

Johnson deplored what he called "the present period of preoccupation with the dollar aspects of space."

Johnson said, "that we not be discouraged by publicized events but rather be stimulated to even greater efforts for the coming years."

Johnson, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Council, addressed the annual Goddard Memorial dinner of the National Rocket Club. He presented the club's yearly award to Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., America's first man in orbit, for "the greatest achievement during the preceding year to advance missile, rocket, and space flight programs."

Johnson deplored what he called "the present period of preoccupation with the dollar aspects of space."

Goldwater, in a guest appearance on the Jack Paar Show (NBC-TV), did not mention Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson by name, but his reference could not have been more clear.

"I watched what happened to one of the strongest men in the country in the short space of two years," said Goldwater after reiterating his refusal to consider the second spot on the 1964 Republican presidential ticket.

Goldwater's taped comments on the Paar show were televised to Canadian audiences Thursday night and will be beamed into American homes Friday night.

When Paar mentioned Johnson by name and suggested he "once was one of the most powerful men in this country," Goldwater agreed.

Poll Tax Ban Action Urged By President

23 Governors Get Requests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy personally urged 23 governors Friday to press for state legislative approval of a constitutional amendment outlawing the poll tax before the 1964 national elections.

One of his telegram appeals went to Connecticut which ratified the amendment Wednesday. The Connecticut action made a total of 25 state legislatures that have ratified the proposed amendment. It would become law when ratified by 38 states.

The President did not send telegrams to governors of 24 states that have voted approval, nor to Mississippi which rejected the amendment and to two states, Wyoming and South Dakota, where the legislatures adjourned for the year without acting.

Five states presently impose a poll tax as a requirement for voting. They are Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia.

Kennedy urged the governors to initiate action this year on ratification.

He said in his telegrams: "Because very few state legislatures will meet in 1964, action by individual states now is essential if the proposed amendment is to be effective during the 1964 elections."

The President observed that the amendment had "strong bipartisan sponsorship and support in the Congress and was adopted by overwhelming majorities in both houses." House and Senate approval last year cleared the way for submission of the amendment for ratification by three fourths of the states.

Zantzinger Trial Set Thursday

BALTIMORE (AP) — William D. Zantzinger, socially prominent Southern Maryland tobacco farmer charged in the slaying of a hotel barmaid, will be arraigned in Criminal Court next Thursday. The arraignment of his wife, Jane, on charges of assaulting a policeman and disturbing the peace, also is set next Thursday.

Zantzinger, 24, was indicted earlier this week. The main count is causing the death of Hattie Carroll, who died the day after she was struck with a cane at a society ball in the Emerson Hotel last month.

He also will be arraigned on charges of assaulting Mrs. Carroll, of assaulting another waitress, Ethel Hill, assaulting a bellhop, George N. Gesell, and disturbing the peace.

The arraignment hearing will provide an opportunity for the defense to enter any special motions, such as a move for a change of venue that has been reported.

Zantzinger is free on $25,000 bail. The arraignments will be before Judge Charles D. Harris.

Buys Part Interest

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Lear Siegler Inc. announced Friday it has acquired a minority interest in Vulcaansoord N.V., a Dutch manufacturing firm, for an undisclosed amount. Vulcaansoord makes three models of gas and oil heaters for the company's Siegler heater division.

AEC Reduction Could Bring Dual Savings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reduction of appropriations for the Atomic Energy Commission could bring dual savings, Rep. John P. Saylor, R-Pa. said Friday.

Not only could money be saved by reducing funds earmarked for the AEC, said Saylor, but reduced operations by that body would leave room at its Germantown, Md., headquarters for the U.S. Patent Office, which wants a new building.

Saylor placed in the congressional record an article he wrote in 1956 protesting AEC's multi-million dollar program for electric generating stations powered by the atom. He said a recent re-appraisal by David Lilenthal, former AEC chairman, of the program substantiates the Saylor position.

New Hospital In Baltimore Is Scheduled

BALTIMORE (AP) — Archbishop Lawrence J. Sheehan of the Roman Catholic Church announced construction plans Friday for a $10 million hospital in North Baltimore.

Good Samaritan Hospital, to be staffed by Sisters of Bon Secours, will be devoted primarily to the rehabilitation of the chronically ill and will include departments for speech therapy, therapeutic and corrective workshops and vocational training.

Construction will begin late next year or early in 1965 on a 40-acre site (at the intersection of Loch Raven Boulevard and Belvedere Avenue). The number of hospital beds has not been determined.

Funds for the hospital were provided in the will of the late James O'Neill, a Baltimore merchant who also provided funds for construction of the Cathedral of Mary Queen.

Cuban Refugee Says 130 Killed

MIAMI (UPI) — A refugee arriving here with 95 other Cuban-Americans Friday reported anti-Castro guerrillas ambushed a Cuban militia unit 12 days ago and killed 130 men in the mountains of southern Las Villas Province.

A few hours later he sat with Israel Goldberg, husband of the slain woman in the dining room of the Goldberg home.

He said his uncle told him, "You know, Alex, it's ironic, isn't it? Bess all her life was against the death penalty, and I suppose if she were alive today she would still be against it."

Capital punishment is an "inhuman anachronism," and his aunt's slaying seemed to prove that it does not deter potential murderers, the Rabbi said.

Anti-Castro bands are getting bolder every day in Las Villas," he added. "They are burning government buses and cars and executing informers and militiamen. They recently attacked a military bus and burned the six militiamen in it alive."

New Governor Of Minnesota Is Expected

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota governorship is expected to change hands Monday, ending nearly five months of legal dispute over the office.

Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen, The Associated Press learned, will announce his decision Saturday to waive his right of appeal from a decision by the three-judge court that supervised the recount of votes.

The court signed an order Thursday naming Democrat Karl F. Rolvaag the winner by 91 votes. The decision overturned the original Minnesota canvass last November that had given Andersen a victory by 142 votes.

In a strongly worded statement which may have had considerable to do with heading off an appeal to the State Supreme Court, the recount panel said it considered the recount a much more accurate reflection of the vote than the original count.

Longer Visiting Hours Scheduled At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House will be open to visitors two hours longer on Saturdays beginning Saturday and continuing through August 31.

The White House announced today that the Saturday hours will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., instead of 10 a.m. to noon. The same hours apply from Tuesday through Friday.

The White House is closed to visitors on Sundays, Mondays, and holidays.

Maryland Briefs

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew, Baltimore County executive, has ordered an investigation into the cave-in that trapped two workers in a trench near Pikesville this week.

Agnew ordered the directors of public safety and public works to report promptly as possible on the circumstances of the mishap.

A plumber's helper was completely buried under several feet of dirt for about a half hour when a side wall of nine-foot ditch collapsed on him. He was unharmed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md., announced Friday he has introduced legislation to prohibit discrimination because of sex in the payment of wages by employers involved in interstate or foreign commerce.

"We cannot afford the waste produced by discrimination against our working women," Sickles said in announcing his bill. He said the equal pay measure would help eliminate such discrimination.

PARIS (AP) — The nephew of a woman who was strangled and raped 11 days ago has appealed to the Massachusetts legislature to abolish the death penalty.

Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler, whose aunt Mrs. Bessie Goldberg, 62, was found strangled in her Belmont home, represented the Massachusetts Board of Rabbis Friday at a day-long hearing called by the judiciary committee.

Rabbi Schindler said that when he received a telephone call notifying him of the slaying of his aunt "homicide was no longer a statistic as far as I was concerned."

A few hours later he sat with Israel Goldberg, husband of the slain woman in the dining room of the Goldberg home.

He said his uncle told him, "You know, Alex, it's ironic, isn't it? Bess all her life was against the death penalty, and I suppose if she were alive today she would still be against it."

The nationwide stoppage from 8 a.m. to noon was the latest in a wave of strikes that began March 1 with a walkout of 170,000 coal miners.

The strikes have presented President Charles de Gaulle's government its first head-on clash with tightly organized workers of France's nationalized coal mines, gas and electricity, railways and subways.

As a gray, wet dawn broke over Paris, workers jammed commuter trains and subways trying to get to the job before the 8 a.m. electricity cutoff. Many others, who normally don't, took their cars.

The new stamps went on sale for the first time Friday in a ceremony at the fifth annual International Philatelic Exhibition.

They will be available throughout the country starting Saturday.

The change was made necessary when Washington's picture was placed on the new five-cent stamp.

The can was found on a grocer's shelf and no one had eaten of it.

Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, head of the department, said thousands of cans of the brand, "Taste Well" tuna, had been recalled after the store throughout California.

Two Detroit women who died this week were believed victims of botulism poisoning after eating canned tuna.

Dr. Merrill said the toxic substance, with characteristics of botulism, was found in a can of tuna from a store at Satagoa, Calif.

The can bore the code WY3Y2 over 118X, produced by the Washington Packing Corp. in San Francisco, the same code number on cans of tuna recalled after the Detroit deaths.

Dr. Merrill said "Taste Well" brand tuna produced by other packers was not withdrawn, and only cans bearing the code letters WY—for the Washington firm—were withdrawn.

The court signed an order

Thursday naming Democrat Karl F. Rolvaag the winner by 91 votes.

The decision overturned the original Minnesota canvass last November that had given Andersen a victory by 142 votes.

In a strongly worded statement which may have had considerable to do with heading off an appeal to the State Supreme Court, the recount panel said it considered the recount a much more accurate reflection of the vote than the original count.

Kemper Sets Record

Total assets of the companies totaled $501,456,650, an increase of $40,710,648, or 8.8 per cent, over 1961. Surplus in regard to policyholders rose $7,030,417 to $100,299,080, he said.

Monday I Kings 3:5-14
Tuesday Psalms 51:6-12
Wednesday Proverbs 24:1-7
Thursday Matthew 21:18-22
Friday Romans 10:1-4
Saturday Romans 11:28-36

Pam can't keep a secret. She'll probably tell us what she wished before the cake is half eaten.

Whatever her wish, it will be for a little girl type of thing.

But—what of me? What do I wish for my daughter? Success in a career . . . happy marriage . . . children . . . a beautiful home . . . a fair share of worldly goods . . . health . . . happiness?

I suppose I wish all of these things for Pam, in some measure. But if I had to limit myself to a single wish—I would ask for her a deep and abiding faith. How wonderful it is to have an unshaken belief in God's ways and His works, plus the conviction of His love for us.

Some of us may be limited in our ability to give our children material things, but we need never stint on teaching them spiritual values. Start taking your children to church and church school this Sunday.

VEPCO Power Line Hearings Are Scheduled

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The Virginia Electric and Power Co. has asked the State Corporation Commission to authorize construction of a $45 million, 500,000-volt power line which would run next to President Kennedy's new weekend retreat in northern Virginia.

The SCC set aside three days, April 22-24, for a hearing on the controversial line which is opposed by residents of the northern Virginia hunt country.

The line, which would have 100-foot high steel towers, would loop from Mt. Storm, W. Va., southward toward Harrisonburg, then eastward toward Richmond and then would turn north through Fredericksburg and curve westward north of Warrenton near Middleburg and run back to its starting point.

Residents near Kennedy's new house at Rattlesnake Mountain near Middleburg fear the high lines might interfere with the president's helicopter operations.

Estate owners also contend the power line would mar the scenic beauty of the area and lower property values.

VEPCO officials said the 34-mile line was needed "to meet the growing demands for electric service and at the same time realize all economies..."

Police said the probable cause of the accident was inattention on the part of Mr. Hadley. Tfc. Bruce Diehl investigated the accident at 7:30 p. m.

Delegates Kill Rockfish Bill

ANAPOLIS (AP)—The House of Delegates killed Friday a bill which would have banned taking of rockfish during March and April.

Some metropolitan area delegates, who had voted in the past for the bill sought by sports fishermen, joined Eastern Shoremen and others in polishing it off after only a few minutes oratory.

HOLLYWOOD — Robert Wagner brought Marion Donen when he called on me. They have no immediate plans to marry, but will wed as soon as Bob's divorce from Natalie Wood is final. Bob has lost pounds and is so thin now.

He told me that the Mirisch Bros. had discussed with him and Blake Edwards "A Shot in the Dark" which they hope to make in Hollywood.

"I had to go to Europe to make pictures," said Bob, "because I wasn't working in Hollywood, and Natalie and I had put so much money into our home here, even after we sold it, there was nothing left. I have done four pictures in Europe, but I want to do my next one in Hollywood if it's at all possible."

Edie Adams obviously feels there ought to be a law against embarrassing children the way her mother-in-law is doing to the Kovac youngsters. She isn't at all pleased that Mrs. Kovac's latest custody action over the children has now been postponed from Friday until some time in June. "It will just give her all that time to say more ridiculous things," said Edie, who is at Columbia preparing for her role opposite Jack Lemmon in "Under The Yum Yum Tree."

Edie, who has been a very good mother to her late husband's children, tells me the oldest daughter Betty becomes 16 on the 16th of May, and can't wait to get her driver's license.

The returns on "How The West Was Won" are astounding even though it opened in the original production directed by George Bernard Shaw himself," said Glynnis.

"The night that opening he received word that his son was born, and at our opening — 30 years later — he received a telephone call that his grandson was born. Isn't that a coincidence?"

Not since "La Dolce Vita" has Jack Lemmon in "Under The Yum Yum Tree."

Within a week, Doris Day, Robert Taylor, Karl Malden, Lee Cobb, Groucho Marx and Charlton Heston came to see the raved about French film. And they remained to rave over 12-year-old Patricia Gozzi, the child star and the male lead, Hardy Kruger.

This drama of how a young man's friendship for a child is misinterpreted, is a show case toward stardom for young Patricia.

Charlton Heston said, "Her's would be an unbelievable performance in an adult—much less a 12 year old."

The gallant courage of Patricia is apparent supplying street lighting, fire protection, water, sewer and other services to a territory being annexed shall not need the consent of 25 per cent of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed.

This bill sponsored by Harford County Sen. John Clarence North does not apply to Allegany and five other counties. Senators from the six counties amended the bill to exempt their counties. Others exempted are Montgomery, Prince Georges, Somerset, Washington and Worcester counties.

The measure also gives the county commissioners authority to enact a building code and a housing code.

Another bill, HB 682, was passed and it does away with metal license tags for coin amusement machines and replaces them with paper permits.

The Senate passed SB 125 which provides that any municipal corporation supplying street lighting, fire protection, water, sewer and other services to a territory being annexed shall not need the consent of 25 per cent of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed.

HOLLYWOOD — Robert Wagner brought Marion Davies when he called on me. They have no immediate plans to marry, but will wed as soon as Bob's divorce from Natalie Wood is final. Bob has lost pounds and is so thin now.

Edie, who has been a very good mother to her late husband's children, tells me the oldest daughter Betty becomes 16 on the 16th of May, and can't wait to get her driver's license.

The returns on "How The West Was Won" are astounding even MGM. The movie has opened in 13 countries outside the U. S. A., and Canada, and from Europe $3,000,000 has already been piled up in profits.

This is making more money—and much faster—than the all-time champ "Ben-Hur," which earned $60,000,000.

The gallant courage of Patricia

Neal in the face of two family tragedies passes understanding. The recent sudden death of her seven-year-old daughter, Olivia, in London, coupled with the shocking automobile accident injuring her infant son several years ago, is almost too much to bear. Referring to her husband, writer Ronald Dahl, Pat says,

"We feel as though we have been living the Book of Job."

Here from England for a "Ben Casey" TV show, Pat tells me her thesis project will help to create civic interest in the local college and a building program.

Kiffner will graduate from VPI in June and hopes to go to Columbia University graduate school in New York.

Kiffner, who graduated from Fort Hill in 1957, said he has always been interested in designing and architecture and prefers different building types and not specialized ones such as educational facilities. Since he is familiar with this area and also with the needs of colleges, he decided to adopt an ACC college building plan as his major thesis project.

During the past five weeks he has spent considerable time in research on colleges and has been particularly interested in the needs of Allegany Community College.

In the past week, he has talked to Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, college president here, about ACC's projected needs over the next five years and has been told there is a possibility of a proposed building program within that time.

As it exists, his thesis project is a theoretical problem, Kiffner said.

The next step is preliminary drawings and finally presentation of the drawings and preparation of a book describing his research.

At VPI, Kiffner is a member of the student chapter of the American Institute of Architecture, Phi Kappa Phi Fraternity and Tau Sigma Delta, honorary architecture fraternity.

Kiffner has a brother, John, who is attending Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis; and a sister, Kathleen, a student at River Forest College, Chicago.

Within a week, Doris Day, Robert Taylor, Karl Malden, Lee Cobb, Groucho Marx and Charlton Heston came to see the raved over French film. And they remained to rave over 12-year-old Patricia Gozzi, the child star and the male lead, Hardy Kruger.

This drama of how a young man's friendship for a child is misinterpreted, is a show case toward stardom for young Patricia.

Charlton Heston said, "Her's

all-time champ "Ben-Hur," which would be an unbelievable performance in an adult—much less a 12 year old."

House Passes County Bill

The House of Delegates Thursday passed a bill that would set up plumbing and building codes for Allegany County.

House Bill 680 specifically states that the Allegany County Commissioners may provide regulations for the issuance of plumbing permits and shall have the power to adopt a plumbing code.

The measure also gives the county commissioners authority to enact a building code and a housing code.

Another bill, HB 682, was passed and it does away with metal license tags for coin amusement machines and replaces them with paper permits.

The Senate passed SB 125 which provides that any municipal cor-

Court Project Bid Accepted

The bid of the John I. Vandegrift Company to install floor tile in the reception room and office of the bar library at the Court House and carpeting in the library was accepted yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The bid of $2,520 for the project was the lowest of several offers received by the county board.

In preparation for the flooring job the county custodial workers have painted the ceiling and walls of the three rooms on the second floor of the Court House which comprises the bar library facilities.

The board also received a request from Robert Helmstetter, Homewood Addition, for repairs to a roadway. He was asked to submit his complaint by letter.

James Smith is chairman of the committee to handle discussions with the county commissioners.

Other members of the committee are Frank Powers, Rabbi Max Salinger and Peebles.

Robert D. Peebles, Lonaconing

chairman of the commission, said the group would like to meet with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to discuss the feasibility of the plan.

The idea behind the program is that some non-profit organization might be formed to establish a nursing home on a site on the county farm.

The Greek Way To Recovery

The measure of the rebirth of Greece, which celebrates its 133d Independence Day on Monday, is that the United States plans soon to take it off the foreign aid dole. Nearly $3 billion of American aid has been poured into Greece since the end of World War II. But the tab has dropped to a modest $30 million annually, virtually all of it for military assistance.

Axial forces progressively stripped the Greek economy during World War II, and then systematically destroyed what was left before pulling out. Civil strife followed. The United States sent in a rescue mission in 1947 to keep the country from falling behind the Iron Curtain. By 1949 the Greeks were able to put down the Communist-supported guerrillas and concentrate on economic rehabilitation.

Though still among the poorer nations of Europe west of the Iron Curtain, Greece's economic miracle is not to be faulted. In 1945 only five of the country's passenger ships remained and less than one quarter of its cargo vessels were still afloat; today, the merchant fleet sailing under Greek flag totals 1,100 ships. If all Greek-owned ships were registered under its flag, Greece would be the world's third-ranked maritime nation.

Greece's gross national product has been growing at a rate second only to that of West Germany for the past decade, and a six per cent annual increase is planned for the next 10 years. Last November Greece became the first associate member of the European Common Market, an ideal arrangement which gives Greek products full access to the Market countries but permits imposition of some tariffs on imports for the next 22 years. This is a fillip for Greek exports, which include such luscious products as olives, fruits and Melina (Never On Sunday) Mercouri.

Longest Land Frontier

China's Mao Tse-tung seems to be a man of considerable sardonic humor which he is currently using to give his supposed ally, Nikita Khrushchev, the screaming meemies.

The great Mao is not remarkable for his consistency: at one period he announces that he will "let a hundred flowers bloom," meaning that people are to feel free to write as they think; at another period he chops the heads off those who presume to differ with him. He invades India and then halts the invasion; he twists Khrushchev for "cowardice" over Cuba, but he has not himself summoned the nerve to attack British-held Hong Kong or Portuguese Macao or the small islands held by Chiang Kai-shek between Taiwan and the Chinese mainland. He is just as vulnerable to the sardonic thrust as Khrushchev—but it is the Soviet dictator, not Mao Tse-tung, who is obviously doing the wincing these days.

The Mao technique is devilish. He floats rumors that the Chinese are not at all satisfied with certain nineteenth-century treaties which ceded to Russia a corridor from the Lake Baikal region of Siberia to the port of Vladivostok and gave the Russians other Pacific maritime territory. He calls into question the ancient Russian annexation of Chinese Turkestan. Then, when it is suggested by conciliators that Mao and Khrushchev talk things over, the Chinese dictator agrees to a meeting in Peiping, to which Khrushchev could not go without losing face.

The twitting of Khrushchev goes on against an ominous geographical and demographical background. It is often said that the longest unfortified land frontier in the world is the one that divides the United States and Canada. But the land frontier between China and Soviet Russia is longer by a fourth as much again. It, too, is unfortified. The population of China is said to be around 700 million. That of Soviet Russia is a mere 220 million—and the Russian birthrate has been going down. What if the 700 million Chinese started to move north?

When, during the Korean War, General MacArthur pleaded with Washington to permit him to bomb the "privileged sanctuary" of the Red Chinese in Manchuria, the request was turned down for fear that it might bring Soviet Russia into the conflict. Whereupon General Charles Willoughby, MacArthur's chief of intelligence, pointed out that a single bomb placed on a strategic portion of the Trans-Siberian Railway would effectively isolate the Russians from their Red Chinese allies. The Russians, so General Willoughby recalled, couldn't defeat the Japanese back in the early years of this century because of the Siberian distances involved.

General Willoughby had obviously been looking at the map of inner Asia, where the Trans-Siberian tracks parallel the Mongolian and the Manchurian borders for some three thousand miles. This stretch, which is roughly the distance between Portland, Maine, and Portland, Oregon, shows how tenuous is the linkage between the two ends of the Soviet Asiatic empire. The Russians are now making surveys for a second line.

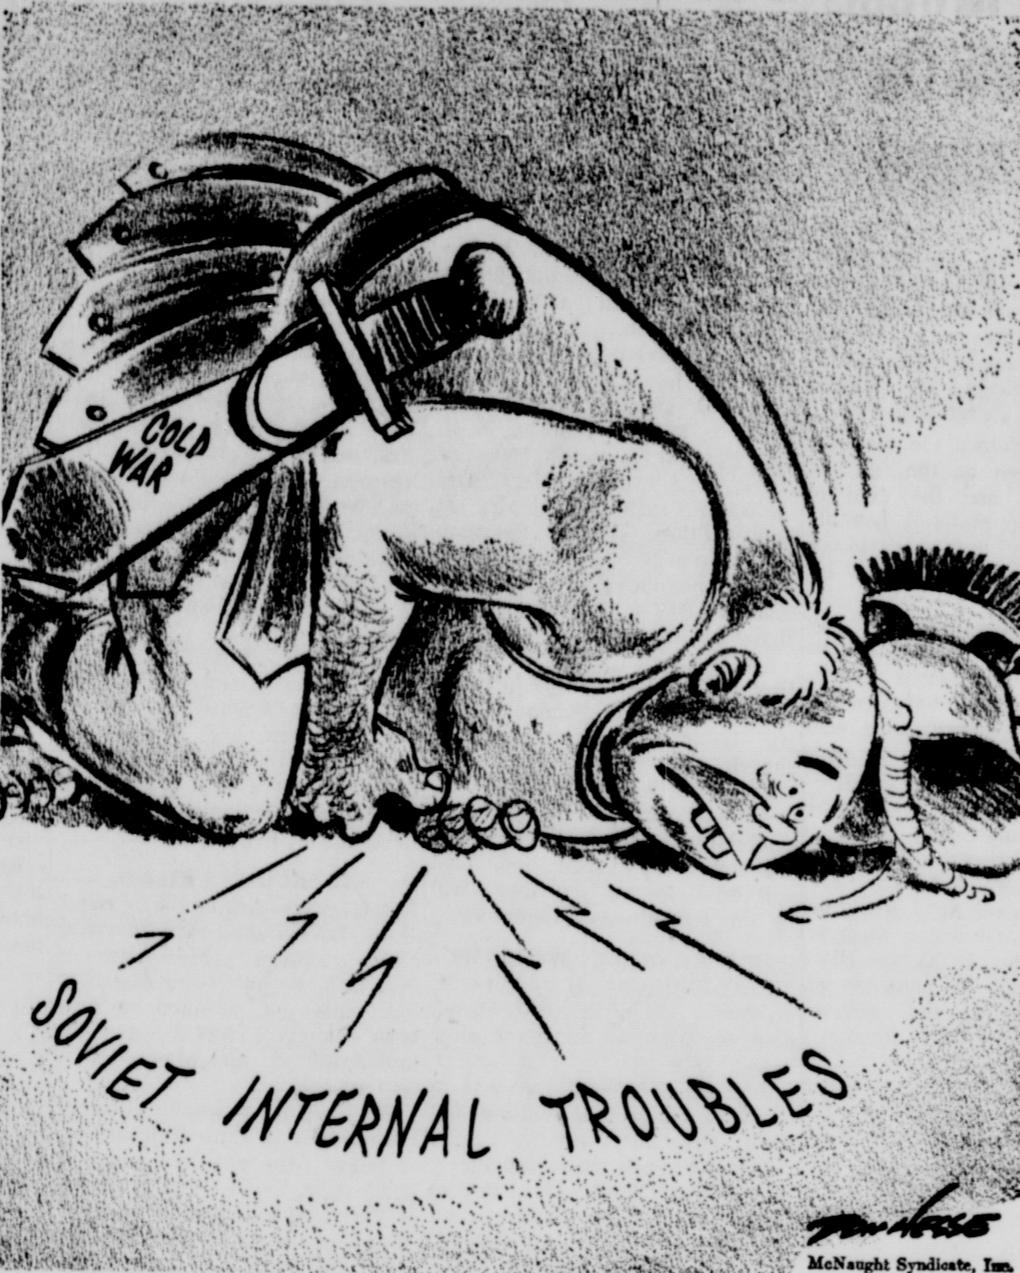

All of this must be on Khrushchev's mind as he listens to Mao's taunts. All of this must be darkening his dreams when he considers that the Red Chinese may someday be able to explode an atomic bomb of their own. For a period Khrushchev traded taunts with Mao, contrasting the Red Chinese unwillingness to attack Portuguese Macao with Nehru's bold seizure of Portuguese Goa. But Mao had the last word here when he dismissed Khrushchev's remarks as "a fig leaf to hide a disgraceful performance in the Caribbean crisis."

True enough, in any Russo-Chinese war, the Soviets would have the advantage of an industrialized nation. But the Red Chinese might negate that with their willingness to die. Once before, in history, a nervy chieftain with little advantage save that of a ferocious manpower erupted from inner China to make the countries of eastern Europe tremble. In the thirteenth century Genghis Khan and his hordes swarmed into what is now the Uzbek and Kazak regions of the Soviet Union, sacking cities as they went and moving on ultimately to the banks of the Don River.

Khrushchev must be thinking of this when he contemplates the Sino-Soviet rift. Just how would 220 million Russians defend three thousand miles of Trans-Siberian track against 700 million Chinese bent on moving like lemmings to a mysterious destiny? He awoke the next morning to

Facts Of Cuban Subversion Finally Coming Out

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The United States government spends billions of dollars to get intelligence information from foreign countries, and it has concentrated particularly in trying to find out how much subversion and infiltration by the Communists has been going on in Central and South America. At last the facts are coming out authoritatively.

John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, now has told Congress what Castro is doing to "export" communism from Cuba. President Kennedy has said that it is the firm intention of the United States to prevent such "export" from becoming effective. Mr. McCone said in his statement to a House committee:

"The public pronouncements of Cuban leaders, the daily record of events in Latin America, and reports from our intelligence sources within Communist and other left-extremist elements throughout this hemisphere all agree on one salient conclusion: that Fidel Castro is spurring and supporting the efforts of Communists and other revolutionary elements to overthrow and seize control of the governments in Latin America."

"Even before the October missile crisis — and with increasing rancor since then — Cuban leaders have been exhorting revolutionary movements to violence and terrorism, and supporting their activities."

"Cuban support takes many different forms, but its main thrust is in the supply of the inspiration, the guidance, the training, and the communications and technical assistance that revolutionary groups in Latin America require."

"Cuba has given guerrilla training to more nationals from Venezuela than from any other country. Our best estimate now is that more than 200 Venezuelans received such training in 1962..."

"Leaders of the militant groups in Venezuela, Brazil, and Peru who have gone to Cuba seeking assistance have been told by the Cuban leaders that Cuba is willing to furnish funds, training, and technical assistance."

Mr. McCone said that, while the amount of identifiable quantities of weapons being sent to Latin-American insurgents is not at present significant, he has no reason to believe that it will not increase. He added:

"Cuban financing of subversive operations in Latin America is generally effected by couriers carrying cash."

Mr. McCone gave several examples of this type of operation. He continued:

"One of the most important Communist assets in Latin America is a large number of Communist-bloc diplomatic and Cuban missions. These missions are used to further Communist subversive activities even in countries where there are no bloc diplomatic missions.

"The Soviets, and in some cases some satellites as well, have diplomatic missions in Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, and Uruguay. The USSR maintains relations with Bolivia but has no resident mission there. Cuba maintains embassies in Mexico, Brazil, Bolivia, Uruguay, and Chile."

Members of Congress are wondering whether, in view of these authentic reports, the United States is fulfilling its promise to prevent the "export" of Communism and the sending of Soviet-trained personnel from Cuba to infiltrate the governments and subvert the economy of the various countries in Latin America.

Testifying recently before a House Subcommittee on Foreign Affairs, Edwin M. Martin, Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs, made the following statement when asked about the future policy of the United States:

"I would suppose lastly we are determined in the spirit of the Punta del Este resolution which declared that a Communist regime is incompatible with the Inter-American system, to see to it, in association if possible, but alone if it becomes necessary, that no further Communist regimes get established in Latin America."

Representative Gross, Republican, of Iowa then engaged in this colloquy with Mr. Martin:

"Mr. Gross: Then you have no timetable for the surgery necessary to remove this cancer?"

"Mr. Martin: No, sir.

"Mr. Gross: Aren't you disturbed by the fact that the cancer can overcome the Central and South American area before the government falls in Cuba?"

"Mr. Martin: No; I think we feel we are making progress in this regard. It is a matter of concern, but we think the operation might well worsen the condition of the patient and it would also raise global problems which would worsen the position of the United States from a world security standpoint."

"Mr. Gross: We are right back where we started from —"

"Mr. Martin: On this particular question, that is correct. I think the President has made that quite clear a good many times."

"Mr. Gross: As far as I am concerned — and I don't want to argue with you — I don't think we have a policy. I think the President is playing this thing by ear and from hour to hour and day to day. I don't think this government has a policy with respect to Cuba. I think the only policy that we have is one of hope for the best and fear for the worst."

POLITICIAN'S PLIGHT — In these days of high pressure politics anything goes in the effort of senators to establish links with members of their constituency. Many legislators have set up procedures, for instance, by which they learn of births among their voters and send them letters of congratulations.

It was inevitable that there'd be some slippage some day and it happened to a senator. After his office had sent a form letter congratulating a couple on the arrival of a bundle of joy, the senator received a nice "thank you" letter in reply. The letter also commented:

"Your congratulations on the birth of our new baby is a wee bit premature. I had no idea what I have heard of."

Vascular Disorders Appear In Various Forms

cheeks represent another form. The color is due to blood within the small, dilated vessels. These visible vessels may crop out after long time exposure of the skin of the face to wind or sun. The same applies to any part of the body subjected to excessive exposure to heat or X-rays. The lesions are more common among those with thin, inelastic skin and in victims of certain dermatologic conditions, including acne rosacea.

Older persons also develop bright red or purplish, slightly elevated spots varying from pinhead to pea size. The tiny mass consists of many tufts or loops of dilated capillaries. These spots are meaningless and require no treatment except for cosmetic purposes. They can be disguised with powder or removed by an electric needle.

The arterial spider is well named. It consists of a central enlargement with finger-like processes branching out like the legs of a spider or spokes of a wheel. The spider is bright red in color, pulsates, and is located usually on the face, neck, or upper chest. Some of these lesions appear suddenly and fade quickly; others remain.

A somewhat similar defect is noted occasionally over the liver area as a forerunner of cirrhosis.

Venous stars are the counterpart of the arterial spider. These dilated small veins are blue in color because venous blood flows through them. They are found anywhere on the body but prefer the lower extremities. Venous stars pop out in areas where the pressure within the venous system is increased.

These blood vessels can be destroyed by electrodesiccation but this seldom is necessary.

There are other vascular lesions of a more serious nature, varying from congenital hemorrhagic telangiectasia to highly malignant tumors.

Postmaster General Day Once Gave Resignation To JFK; Won't Quit Now

By Drew Pearson

had left word about O'Donnell's phone call.

"Oh," said Browley, "he was just calling about that commemorative stamp."

John Glenn Reception

The Postmaster General remarked that the stamp matter had been settled several days earlier, returned to his office, and placed a call to the White House.

There, O'Donnell explained that he had phoned earlier to invite Day to join the dignitaries who would greet astronaut John Glenn, just back from orbit, and accompany him in the triumphal procession down Pennsylvania Avenue.

Day cheerfully accepted, then, in a quick change of moods, marched grimly back into Browley's office.

"Why didn't you tell me what O'Donnell really wanted?" he demanded.

"O'Donnell invited ME to the White House," Browley retorted petulantly.

"But you said O'Donnell had called about a commemorative stamp," bristled Day. "Why didn't you tell me what he wanted?"

"He asked ME to come to the White House and ride in the procession," repeated Browley.

At this point, Day gave his deputy a brief but blistering question as to who was Postmaster General.

"There is only one boss of the Post Office, and his name is Day—not Browley!" he snapped.

As part of the John Glenn ceremony, Day had planned to give the distinguished guests books of stamps commemorating Glenn's space flight.

He searched high and low for the commemorative stamps, finally learned that Browley had taken them. In order to get them back, Day had to confront Browley again and demand the missing stamps.

Exasperated, Day explained his troubles to White House aide Ralph Dungan and announced that he could no longer tolerate the situation. Dungan put on a show of great alarm and promised to inform the President at once.

Four months later, nothing had happened. Postmaster General Day, thoroughly fed up by now, telephoned the President from his home one night. He told the President that a letter of resignation would be on his desk the following morning.

Kennedy seemed surprised and asked him to come in and talk it over. At this meeting, Day served notice that either he or Brawley had to go. The President said this was the first he had heard about the problem. Day replied that he had given a full report to Dungan the previous February.

The President said he had not been told, hence could hardly have acted upon a matter he hadn't heard about.

Meanwhile, Assistant Postmaster General Jim Kelleher told Browley that he had no alternative but to submit his resignation, too, in order to give the President a choice.

President Kennedy, with two letters of resignation in hand, accepted Browley's.

NOTE — Asked for his comment, Browley blamed any misunderstanding with Day upon "lack of communication." He had given his best service, he said, to both Day and the President. Browley called Day "a great Postmaster General, one of the greatest in history."

Behind The Scenes

The State Department has urged the House Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee to steer clear of the newsprint problem in its investigation of newspaper monopoly. Any ruckus over newsprint, the Department warned, might upset the sensitive Canadian market and cause a new anti-American outbreak north of the border.

The House probbers will be free to take up the newsprint question after the Canadian elections next month . . . Brooklyn's Congressman Emanuel Cellier, the Anti-Monopoly chairman, has confided that he is more concerned about advertising tie-ins than circulation or printing agreement between competing newspapers . . . Walter Reuther, No. 2 man of the AFL-CIO, complained bitterly about President Kennedy's economic policies during a recent closed-door meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council. Reuther charged that Kennedy's conservative fiscal advisers are too cautious and conservative to stimulate the economy and produce more jobs.

Exasperated, Day explained his troubles to White House aide Ralph Dungan and announced that he could no longer tolerate the situation. Dungan put on a show of great alarm and promised to inform the President at once.

Four months later, nothing had happened. Postmaster General Day, thoroughly fed up by now, telephoned the President from his home one night. He told the President that a letter of resignation would be on his desk the following morning.

Many legislators have set up procedures, for instance, by which they learn of births among their voters and send them letters of congratulations.

It was inevitable that there'd be some slippage some day and it happened to a senator. After his office had sent a form letter congratulating a couple on the arrival of a bundle of joy, the senator received a nice "thank you" letter in reply. The letter also commented:

"Your congratulations on the birth of our new baby is a wee bit premature. I had no idea that anyone outside of our obstetrics clinic even knew my wife was expec-tating, let alone a United States Senator."

"In response to your kind offer to send us a copy of 'Infant Care' I will be most happy to accept it if you will mark your calendar a head approximately seven months."

"For several months now, I have been quite confused by all the news releases from various senators and representatives indicating that their sources of information apparently far exceed those available to the President and the members of his cabinet. You are the first to offer proof that your sources, however premature, by far exceed any I have heard of."

Vascular Disorders Appear In Various Forms

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Vascular disorders come in a variety of forms. When the blood vessels of the skin are involved, the capillaries, arteries, or veins may be affected. For example, a widening or prominence of the tiny blood vessels of the skin bothers some individuals, especially when these lesions appear on the face, neck, or extremities.

Different patterns are noted.

Red streaks on the nose or in victims of certain dermatologic conditions, including acne rosacea.

Older persons also develop bright red or purplish, slightly elevated spots varying from pinhead to pea size. The tiny mass consists of many tufts or loops of capillaries. These spots are meaningless and require no treatment except for cosmetic purposes. They can be disguised with powder or removed by an electric needle.

The arterial spider is well named. It consists of a central enlargement with finger-like processes branching out like the legs of a spider or spokes of a wheel. The spider is bright red in color, pulsates, and is located usually on the face, neck, or upper chest. Some of these lesions appear suddenly and fade quickly; others remain.

A somewhat similar defect is noted occasionally over the liver area as a forerunner of cirrhosis.

Venous stars are the counterpart of the arterial spider. These dilated small veins are blue in color because venous blood flows through them. They are found anywhere on the body but prefer the lower extremities. Venous stars pop out in areas where the pressure within the venous system is increased.

These blood vessels can be destroyed by electrodesiccation but this seldom is necessary.

There are other vascular lesions of a more serious nature, varying from congenital hemorrhagic telangiectasia to highly malignant tumors.

Kansas City's Pitching Potential Seen Big Factor
If Club Should Show Improvement Over Last Season

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

BRAIDENTON, Fla.—Ed Lopat, the old Chicago White Sox and New York Yankee pitcher who took over as manager of the Kansas City Athletics this year, naturally would look toward his pitching as one of the hopeful signs for an improved club which finished second last in 1962, just 24 games behind the pace of his old New York teammates.

This year Lopat, who used to drive batters crazy with his soft stuff, has something to look at on the pitching lines.

"Last year," says Lopat who is beginning his first year as a major league manager but was a coach with the A's last season, "we started the year with one pitcher, Jerry Walker. He didn't come around and, of course, now he's gone. (He went to Cleveland in a trade for Chuck Essegian, outfielder.)

Has Seven Pitchers

"However, this spring I feel we have seven pitchers to start with and if some of these fellows improve, and they must have, we've just got to be better."

"To many of them," continues the very affable K. C. manager, "it was a question of making the club last year. They made it, have good arms and they made progress. The big question this year, of course, is how well they'll exercise what they learned."

The seven pitchers Ed is referring to include Ed Rakow (14-17), Dave Wickersham (11-4), Diego Segui (8-5), Orlando Pena (6-4), Dan Pfister, Bill Fischer and Ted Bowsfield. Fischer will fill out the bullpen along with John Wyatt, who came on to appear in 59 games for the Athletics last year, turning in a respectable 10-7 record.

AMONG the new pitchers are Pete Lovrich, a 20-year-old who looks like a good one for the future after only one year in the minors; Jose Santiago, who won 16 for Albuquerque last year, and then had a fine 10-2 record in the Winter League with San Juan, Puerto Rico, and Paul Seitz, who won 16 at Binghampton. He terms the "dark horse" who could break in to his staff, and also on Lovrich, who was 9-6 with a last-place Minot in the Northern League last year.

About the rest of the team the new skipper says that "our infield is compact and the backbone of the club. Our outfield defensively is in good shape and I feel that Essegian will give us that long ball which we need."

Seeks Another Catcher

Lopat admits he is looking for another catcher to go with Haywood Sullivan and Joe Azcue.

Dick Howser, the star shortstop, was out half of last season with a broken bone in his hand and Lopat feels that with him sound for a full year the infield will be solid.

With Howser in the infield are Norm Siebern at first, Jerry 1920s.

(Photos by Frank Kuchirchuk)

Lopat and Ed Charles, with several others ready to fill in. Among the replacements are Wayne Causey, who's been around, and an outfielder, John Wojcik, who hit .302 for Albuquerque last year.

Lopat will have Wojcik play first, too, to be ready to step in. Another fine-looking prospect, Ken Harrelson, who hit 38 homers for Binghampton, will make it with his bat as an outfielder but also has been working around first base.

Lopat believes that with healthy Howser the trio of Howser, Charles and outfielder Jose Tartabull "will steal at least 110 bases which should cause the rest of the clubs some consternation."

The Athletics' outfield includes George Alusik, Manny Jimenez, who hit well for most of last year, Gino Cimoli and Bobby Del Greco with Essegian to be platooned.

Harrelson, as noted above, is being aimed for the garden.

Another fine young prospect is Bill Kern, who hit 27 homers and batted .315 for Portland last year.

Dykes, McGaugh Help

Lopat made several good-will tours with the Athletics during the winter and reports that fans are looking forward not only to an improved club but one which will stay in Kansas City.

Helping Ed do the chores here are two former Cleveland Indians' managers, Jimmy Dykes and Mel McGaugh, now coaches with the Athletics.

Lions To Play Mullens Today In Title Game

Conley High Beats Barrackville High By Score Of 57-46

By JOHN T. KADY
United Press International

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Piedmont slaughtered previously undefeated White Sulphur Springs 58-35 and Mullens Conley had a balanced scoring attack and superior height to defeat Barrackville 57-46 in Class-A semifinal games in the State High School Basketball tournament here Friday.

Piedmont (24-1), winner of 19 consecutive games, plays Mullens in the championship game Saturday at 3 p.m.

Eugene Taylor, a classy 5-foot-10 guard, led the Piedmont offense with 14 points and 16 rebounds. Larry Patterson was the top scorer for Piedmont with 16 points. James Shaver added 11 and Keith Russell 10.

Suffers First Loss

Bob Minniewether was tops for White Sulphur with 14 markers and 15 rebounds. The loss was the first in 26 games for White Sulphur. Piedmont did an outstanding job on Minniewether, who had been averaging about 20 points a game, by jamming up the middle and forcing the slender center to shoot from the outside.

White Sulphur led 10-9 at the end of the first stanza but Taylor and Patterson hit on five quick goals at the start of the second period to make the score 19-12 and Piedmont steadily pulled away.

Barrackville, which won the Class-A title in 1961, was a slight favorite to defeat Conley, and the Open Golf Tournament.

Recovering after an early pair of bogeys the 50-year-old slammer birdied four of his last five holes, one with a 45-foot putt, and posted a 36-hole total of 140, 4-under-par for the 7,028-yard course.

The score of Harney, first-round leader at 68, rose with the wind to a par 72. Thursday, Harney played late after strong morning winds that plagued some of the other pros. Friday he drew a morning spot and played his round in 20-mile gusts.

A bogee on the 10th green cost Gene Little, last year's No.

2 money winner, an opportunity to tie Snead and Harney.

The 32-year-old National Open champion of 1961 muffed a 3-foot putt to start the second period, making the score 10-9 in favor of Conley and the Blue Devils never lost the lead after that.

Conley led 45-37 at the end of the third period as the tempo picked up somewhat and Barrackville cut the margin to five points at 46-41 in the final quarter but that was as close as the Bisons could get.

Says Defense Was Key

Coach Bill Miers of Piedmont said "defense was the key" to the Mineral County team's win over White Sulphur Springs.

"We're not a fast-breaking team," he said. "Instead we concentrate on a steady offense and a good defense. Today the defense was extra good."

White Sulphur Coach George Piercy said his team "was too tight" and as a result was "way off in its shooting."

Coach L. R. Valentine of Mullens Conley said his team "didn't play any ball today" in the victory over Barrackville, but added "we did control the boards and that's perhaps what kept us in the game."

Expect Good Finale

"The trend of this ball club has been to play a bad one and then come back with a good game," Valentine said. "If we continue to follow this pattern, the game Saturday against Piedmont should be a good one."

Barrackville Coach Joe Retton said the game "was one of our worst" but quickly added "but I don't offer this as an alibi."

"They have a good ball club and deserve to win," Retton said of Conley. "They're strong physically, have good size, and are excellent ball handlers."

Kansas City's Pitching Potential Seen Big Factor If Club Should Show Improvement Over Last Season

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

BRADENTON, Fla.—Ed Lopat, the old Chicago White Sox and New York Yankee pitcher who took over as manager of the Kansas City Athletics this year, naturally would look toward his pitching as one of the hopeful signs for an improved club which finished second last in 1962, just 24 games behind the pace of his old New York teammates.

This year Lopat, who used to drive batters crazy with his soft stuff, has something to look at on the pitching lines.

"Last year," says Lopat who is beginning his first year as a major league manager but was a coach with the A's last season, "we started the year with one pitcher, Jerry Walker. He didn't come around and, of course, now he's gone. (He went to Cleveland in a trade for Chuck Essegian, outfielder.)

Has Seven Pitchers

"However, this spring I feel we have seven pitchers to start with and if some of these fellows improve, and they must have, we've just got to be better."

"To many of them," continues the very affable K. C. manager, "it was a question of making the club last year. They made it, have good arms and they made progress. The big question this year, of course, is how well they'll exercise what they learned."

The seven pitchers Ed is referring to include Ed Rakow (14-17), Dave Wickersham (11-4), Diego Segui (8-5), Orlando Pena (6-4), Dan Pfister, Bill Fischer and Ted Bowsback. Fischer will fill out the bullpen along with John Wyatt, who came on to appear in 59 games for the Athletics last year, turning in a respectable 10-7 record.

AMONG the new pitchers are Pete Lovrich, a 20-year-old who looks like a good one for the future after only one year in the minors; Jose Santiago, who won 16 for Albuquerque and then had a fine 10-2 record in the Winter League with San Juan, Puerto Rico, and Paul Seitz, who won 16 at Binghampton. He terms the "dark horse" who could break into his staff, and also on Lovrich, who was 9-6 with a last-place Minot in the Northern League last year.

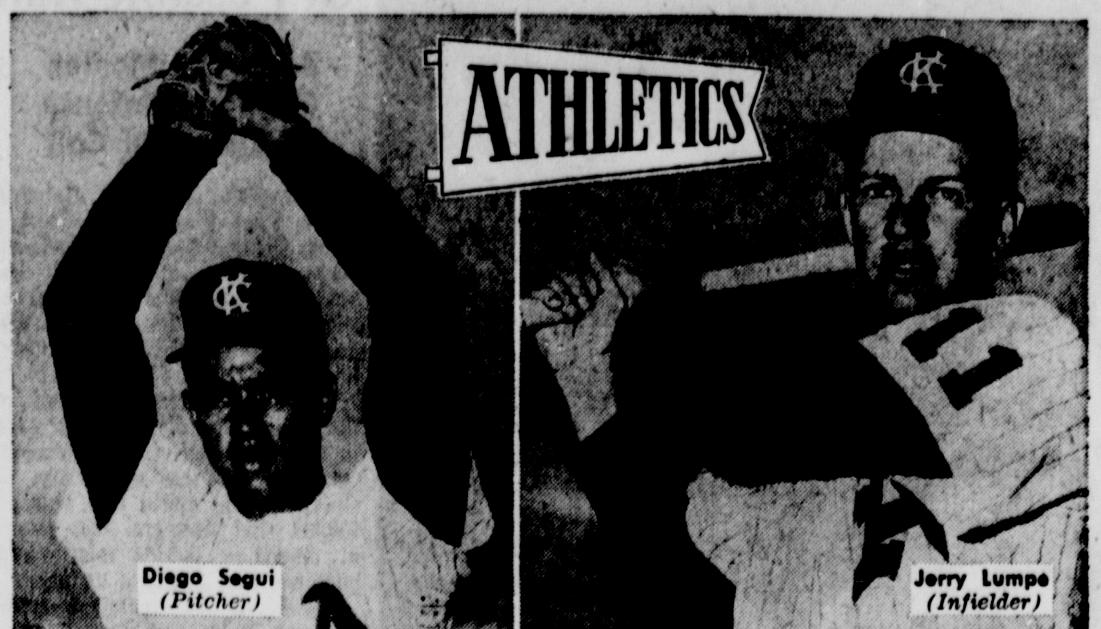

About the rest of the team the new skipper says that "our infield is compact and the backbones of the club. Our outfield defensively is in good shape and I feel that Essegian can give us that long ball which we need."

Seeks Another Catcher

Lopat admits he is looking for another catcher to go with Haywood Sullivan and Joe Azcue.

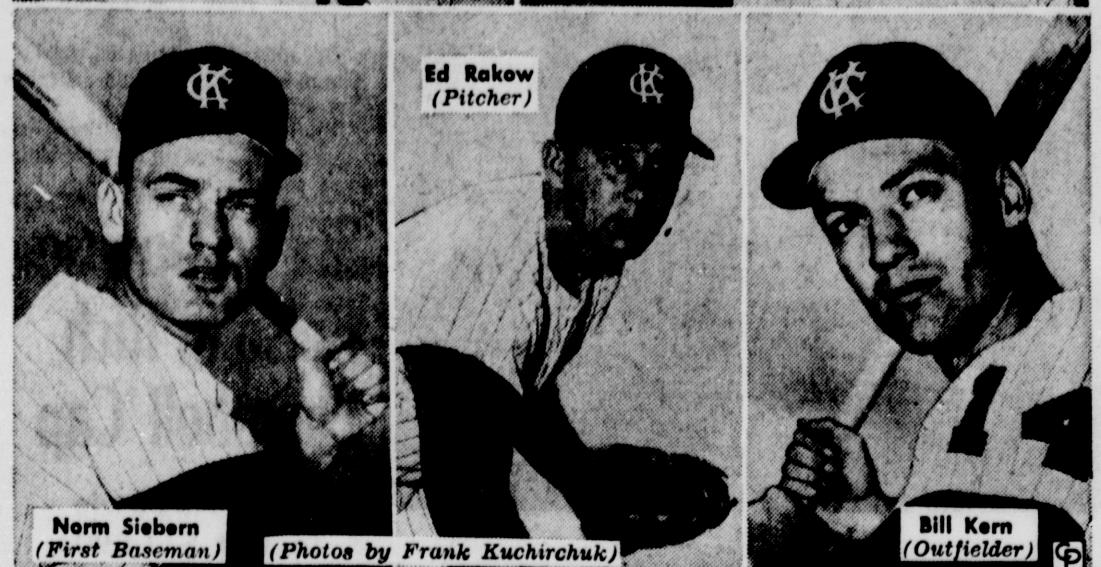

Dick Howser, the star shortstop, was out half of last season with a broken bone in his hand and Lopat feels that with him sound for a full year the infield will be solid.

With Howser in the infield are Norm Siebern at first, Jerry 1920s.

Bill Kern (Outfielder)

Lopat and Ed Charles, with several others ready to fill in. Among the replacements are Wayne Causey, who's been around, and an outfielder, John Wojcik, who hit .302 for Albuquerque last year. Lopat will have Wojcik play first, too, to be ready to step in there. Another fine-looking prospect, Ken Harrelson, who hit 38 homers for Binghampton, will make it with his bat as an outfielder but also has been working around first base.

Lopat believes that with a healthy Howser the trio of Howser, Charles and outfielder Jose Tartabull "will steal at least 110 bases which should cause the rest of the clubs some consternation."

The Athletics' outfield includes George Alusik, Manny Jimenez, who hit well for most of last year, Gino Cimoli and Bobby Del Greco with Essegian to be platooned.

Harrelson, as noted above, is being aimed for the garden.

Another fine young prospect is Bill Kern, who hit 27 homers and batted .315 for Portland last year.

Loyola Cracks
Duke's 20-Game
Winning Streak

Rings Up 94-75 Win,
Goes To NCAA Finals

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Cincinnatti advanced to within one victory of an unprecedented third straight NCAA basketball championship when it routed Oregon State 80-46 Friday night while Loyola (Ill.) downed Duke 94-75 to reach Saturday night's title round.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Third-ranked Loyola of Chicago, an incredible band of steel-sprung leapers, soared to a 17-point lead in a first-half flurry and shattered Duke's 20-game winning streak 94-75 in the opening semifinal of the National Collegiate Basketball Championship Friday night.

Top-ranked Cincinnati, seeking an unprecedented third straight NCAA title, met Oregon State in the second game before a record sellout crowd of 19,153 at Freedman Hall.

Trail By Three Points

Although Loyola's Ramblers had a comfortable margin at the finish, the second-ranked Duke Blue Devils had battled back so successfully that they trailed by only three points with 4 minutes, 20 seconds to play.

But from a 74-71 lead, Loyola capitalized on three fast breaks to move nine points ahead and ran up the score in the closing minutes.

All five Loyola starters hit in double figures again as they've done all year in leading George Ireland's club to a record that now includes 28 victories against only two defeats.

But the big man Friday night was 6-foot-7 Les Hunter, a 20-year-old junior who turned in a brilliant display of jumping and shooting.

Pile Up 22-Lead

Almost before Duke realized what had happened, Hunter and 6-6 Vic Rouse had blitzed the Blue Devil defense so relentlessly that Loyola had blasted into a 22-lead.

With Duke hitting only one field goal in the first 10:15, Loyola rambled to 17-point advantages at 31-14 and 33-16 before Duke could recover.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Export buying and rumors of more to come forced most grain futures Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the local bell, wheat was up ¼ cent, corn up ½ to ¾; soybeans up ½ to ¾ to 1½; and drummed lard unchanged.

The market rallied around noon after a narrow, mixed throughout most of the morning.

Buying picked up following news of large wheat and corn sales to foreign buyers, reports that Spain might buy a sizable amount of soybean oil April 2, when may move on Chicago under foreign aid programs.

The complaint was that soon had been blown from the chimney of the school when the flies were cleaned by an air pressure system.

Webster told the commissioners that he had asked Joseph Downey, supervisor of school maintenance for the Board of Education, to investigate the matter so about that nuisance could be eliminated.

Webster said that Valley High School was opened in 1953 and is one of the newer schools in the county. He commented that the faculty, custodial force and students had kept the school in excellent condition generally and this was the first complaint of any nature about the operation of the facility.

The commodity credit Corp. yesterday sold 1,418,000 bushels of corn to domestic buyers. No CCC sales to exporters were reported.

Oats were firm on light offerings and scattered buying. Rye was lower at the outset, but later rallied with other grains.

Cash, bushel and spot prices for wheat, soybeans and corn were steady to higher. Futures were steady to higher. Cash and commission interests bought some against sales of July wheat.

Grains outside markets were mostly higher.

School Board
To Check Complaint

A reply was received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners from Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, concerning a complaint of residents near Valley High School in Lonaconing.

The market rallied around noon after a narrow, mixed throughout most of the morning.

Buying picked up following news of large wheat and corn sales to foreign buyers, reports that Spain might buy a sizable amount of soybean oil April 2, when may move on Chicago under foreign aid programs.

The complaint was that soon had been blown from the chimney of the school when the flies were cleaned by an air pressure system.

GOP Will Ask Major Cuts In State Budget

House Tentatively Approves Program

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Tawes' $606 million budget was tentatively approved by the house Friday but faces an assault Saturday from Republicans who want to cut it substantially.

The GOP case will be presented by Del. Charles R. Bresler, R-Montgomery, who had a 2½ foot high stack of statistical material distributed to house members Friday.

It analyzes in great detail, how the budget has grown since 1954 in comparison to state revenue.

"We can't expect to stop the budget, but we feel we can make available our thinking on it," Bresler said in asking that it be delayed until Saturday. The Republicans are outnumbered by Democrats 117-25.

Surplus Gone

Bresler, once described by a Democratic opponent in debate as a walking electronic computer, said he had not yet totaled the additional cuts the GOP will propose.

There were guesses they might range up to $6 million.

He said on the house floor that the state had been fortunate to have a $30 million surplus to tide it over the past two years without a tax increase and that this is now dissipated.

He had an adding machine on his desk in the house chamber in case any quick compilation was necessary.

House minority leader J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Allegany, said in turning over the party's case to Bresler that the budget "is the most important item of all legislation before us at the 90-day session."

Budgets Cut

The house already has approved cuts by legislative fiscal committees which totaled $1,358,000. The committees also claimed credit for reductions of nearly $1 million in the Department of Education budget based on a revision of property assessments used in computing school aid.

There was opposition to only a few cuts on the long list of items pruned in committee.

Del. Hervey Machen, D-Prince Georges, led an unsuccessful attempt to restore $12,500 trimmed from the $37,500 proposed for the State Commission on the Aging. It was defeated 78 to 35.

The action reduced the salary of the commission's executive secretary to $7,500. He now receives $11,895 and $12,320 had been proposed in the new budget.

Hume Praises Del. Mitchell For Starting Probe

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — David Hume, who made slot machines a statewide political issue in last year's campaign for governor, said Friday a delegate who reported a bribe attempted on the house floor is to be commended.

He congratulated Del. Clarence M. Mitchell III, D-Balto 4th, "on his courage in attempting to expose another attempted bribe of a legislator by the slot machines interests."

Hume made the statement after the Anne Arundel County grand jury reported earlier Friday there was "not enough evidence to substantiate a criminal indictment" in the case.

The grand jury quizzed Mitchell and 10 other legislators Thursday.

Hume said at least the public interest had been served by getting the matter before a grand jury for the first time.

"It would be refreshing if this same courage were contagious," Hume said of Mitchell's report.

"Should it spread to Southern Maryland we might benefit from the vote of those legislators who say privately the slots are bad and then cast their ballots for the slots when their moment of truth arrives."

Mitchell, in saying he had been offered $300 to oppose Gov. Tawes' bill to ban slot machines, said he did not know the man who approached him. His only description was that the man wore dark glasses and a hat.

Hume, a resident of Bryantown in Charles County, began waging a public fight against slot machines several years ago, chiefly on the ground that they tended to corrupt politicians.

The governor's bill was passed by the house after a bitter fight and statements made on the floor by house leaders denouncing slot machine lobbyists and a sudden switch of votes from the administration.

Mitchell, who joined in these complaints of lobbying activities, said later he was talking from personal experience. He then reported he was approached and offered money "to take a walk or vote against" the bill.

The grand jury report submitted to Judge Matthew S. Evans said it had interrogated 15 Evans who consisted of members of the legislature, State Police and others.

Winners of the Pinewood Derby of Cub Scout Pack 4 at Gephart School are shown with trophies they won last night. They are, from left, Robert Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams, Bedford Road, of Den 3, who won first prize; Robert Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long, 1968 Frederick Street, Den 1, second, and Donald McPhail, Den 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. McPhail, 518 Dreyer Avenue, third.

Election Filing Deadline April 8 In Lonaconing

Prospective candidates for mayor or councilman of Lonaconing who would like to run in the May 14 election are being reminded that April 8 is the deadline for filing a petition with Calvin James, town clerk.

Mr. James, who reported on a special meeting of the mayor and council which was held last night, said candidates seeking the office of mayor must have the signature of 25 registered voters plus a $10 filing fee.

Those seeking a council seat must have a petition with the names of 20 registered voters plus a $5 filing fee. The fee is refunded to the candidate after the election if he wins or is defeated.

The first reading of an ordinance for a proposed salary increase for town officials and employees was read and adopted last night, said Mr. James.

The second reading is scheduled during a regular meeting of the mayor and council on April 1.

Meanwhile residents of the community may voice their opinions for or against the proposed pay boost which would amount to an overall total of $1,900 per year. It is anticipated there will be no increase in the present tax rate.

The increase would come about as a result of adjustments in the assessments set during the past year by the Allegany County Assessing Office in District 10 and 15.

A breakdown of the proposed salary increase is as follows:

The mayor who is paid $200 per year would get a boost of $300 or a total of $500 annually; councilmen who now receive $5 per meeting would get a boost of $5 or a total of $10 per meeting with a maximum of 24 meetings a year.

The town clerk who now receives $1,000 would get a pay boost of $120 or a total of $1,120 a year. Police officers who are now paid $250 a month would get a boost of $10 per month, a total of $260 a month. Extra police, now receiving $1.35 per hour would get a pay boost of $.15 an hour totaling $1.50 per hour.

The street supervisor now receives $1.60 per hour and would get an additional $.15 per hour or a total of $1.75 an hour.

Extra street labor now getting $1.35 per hour would get a pay boost of $.10 or $.145 an hour. The parking meter attendant's salary of $96 a year is to remain the same.

Searstown To Open On May 1

May 1 has been set as the definite opening date for Sears-town, the area's newest shopping center on Winchester Road, Sears-Roebuck and Company, which is building the 70,000 square-foot store, announced the opening date yesterday in view of the rapid progress of construction to date.

In addition to its large retail outlet, Sears is also building an automobile service station there.

Samuel Moses, manager of the Sears store on Baltimore Street, said the building has been completed for some time.

Plumbing, electrical wiring and other interior work has been completed, he said, and personnel are engaged in the installation of shelving and the preparation of stock areas.

Merchandise is coming in and is being stocked.

Mr. Moses described construction progress as being "as good as expected, if not better."

Ten leases have been signed for occupancy, according to a spokesman for Kent-Washington Development Corporation of Washington. Those who have signed leases already, other than Sears-Roebuck, are F. W. Woolworth, Kinney Shoes, Thrift Drugs, American Stores, Todd's Automatic Laundry-Cleaning-Beauty Shop, Truly Candy, Newcomers' Jewelry, Liberty Trust Company and First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The developing firm said that at least seven more leases are expected to be signed within the next 30 days.

Five Newspaper Control Measures Are Killed

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee killed Friday five bills aimed at curtailing the activities of newspapers.

Each of the measures was reported unfavorably, although the bill which would force reporters to reveal news sources may be sent to the Legislative Council for further study.

The other bills would have forbidden newspapers from printing horse racing results, required equal space in news columns for political candidates, tightened libel laws and required publication of stockholders' names.

The measures were introduced in the wake of criticism of newspapers for their coverage of the slot machine debate in the House of Delegates last week.

Sponsors of the measures were Del. Ernest D. Young, D-Balto 4th and Norman R. Stone Jr. and B. J. Medairy Jr., both Democrats from Baltimore County.

Del. Hervey Machen, D-Prince Georges, led an unsuccessful attempt to restore $12,500 trimmed from the $37,500 proposed for the State Commission on the Aging. It was defeated 78 to 35.

The action reduced the salary of the commission's executive secretary to $7,500. He now receives $11,895 and $12,320 had been proposed in the new budget.

Hume Praises Del. Mitchell For Starting Probe

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — David Hume, who made slot machines a statewide political issue in last year's campaign for governor, said Friday a delegate who reported a bribe attempted on the house floor is to be commended. He congratulated Del. Clarence M. Mitchell III, D-Balto 4th, "on his courage in attempting to expose another attempted bribe of a legislator by the slot machines interests."

Hume made the statement after the Anne Arundel County grand jury reported earlier Friday there was "not enough evidence to substantiate a criminal indictment" in the case.

The grand jury quizzed Mitchell and 10 other legislators Thursday.

Hume said at least the public interest had been served by getting the matter before a grand jury for the first time.

"It would be refreshing if this same courage were contagious," Hume said of Mitchell's report.

"Should it spread to Southern Maryland we might benefit from the vote of those legislators who say privately the slots are bad and then cast their ballots for the slots when their moment of truth arrives."

Mitchell, in saying he had been offered $300 to oppose Gov. Tawes' bill to ban slot machines, said he did not know the man who approached him. His only description was that the man wore dark glasses and a hat.

Hume, a resident of Bryantown in Charles County, began waging a public fight against slot machines several years ago, chiefly on the ground that they tended to corrupt politicians.

The governor's bill was passed by the house after a bitter fight and statements made on the floor by house leaders denouncing slot machine lobbyists and a sudden switch of votes from the administration.

Mitchell, who joined in these complaints of lobbying activities, said later he was talking from personal experience. He then reported he was approached and offered money "to take a walk or vote" against the bill.

The grand jury report submitted to Judge Matthew S. Evans said it had interrogated 15 witnesses consisting of members of the legislature, State Police and others.

Election Filing Deadline April 8 In Lonaconing

Prospective candidates for mayor or councilman of Lonaconing who would like to run in the May 14 election are being reminded that April 8 is the deadline for filing a petition with Calvin James, town clerk.

Mr. James, who reported on a special meeting of the mayor and council which was held last night, said candidates seeking the office of mayor must have the signature of 25 registered voters plus a $10 filing fee.

Those seeking a council seat must have a petition with the names of 20 registered voters plus a $5 filing fee. The fee is refundable to the candidate after the election if he wins or is defeated.

The first reading of an ordinance for a proposed salary increase for town officials and employees was read and adopted last night, said Mr. James.

The second reading is scheduled during a regular meeting of the mayor and council on April 1.

Meanwhile residents of the community may voice their opinions for or against the proposed pay boost which would amount to an overall total of $1,900 per year. It is anticipated there will be no increase in the present tax rate. The increase would come about as a result of adjustments in the assessments set during the past year by the Allegany County Assessing Office in District 10 and 15.

A breakdown of the proposed salary increase is as follows:

The mayor who is paid $200 per year would get a boost of $300 or a total of $500 annually; councilmen who now receive $5 per meeting would get a boost of $5 or a total of $10 per meeting with a maximum of 24 meetings a year.

The town clerk who now receives $1,000 would get a pay boost of $120 or a total of $1,120 a year. Police officers who are now paid $250 a month would get a boost of $10 per month, a total of $260 a month. Extra police, now receiving $1.35 per hour would get a pay boost of $1.50 an hour totaling $1.50 per hour.

The street supervisor now receives $1.60 per hour and would get an additional $.15 per hour or a total of $1.75 an hour.

Extra street labor now getting $1.35 per hour would get a pay boost of $.10 or $.15 an hour. The parking meter attendant's salary of $96 a year is to remain the same.

Searstown To Open On May 1

May 1 has been set as the definite opening date for Searstown, the area's newest shopping center on Winchester Road. Sears - Roebuck and Company, which is building the 70,000 square-foot store, announced the opening date yesterday in view of the rapid progress of construction to date.

In addition to its large retail outlet, Sears is also building an automobile service station there.

Samuel Moses, manager of the Sears store on Baltimore Street, said the building has been completed for some time.

Plumbing, electrical wiring and other interior work has been completed, he said, and personnel are engaged in the installation of shelving and the preparation of stock areas.

Merchandise is coming in and is being stocked.

Mr. Moses described construction progress as being as good as expected, "if not better."

Ten leases have been signed for occupancy, according to spokesman for Kent-Washington Development Corporation of Washington.

Those who have signed leases already, other than Sears-Roebuck, are F. W. Woolworth, Kinney Shoes, Thrift Drugs, American Stores, Todd's Automatic Laundry - Cleaning - Beauty Shop, Truly Candy, Newcomers' Jewelry, Liberty Trust Company and First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The developing firm said that at least seven more leases are expected to be signed within the next 30 days.

Five Newspaper Control Measures Are Killed

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee killed Friday five bills aimed at curtailing the activities of newspapers.

Each of the measures was reported unfavorably, although the bill which would force reporters to reveal news sources may be referred to the Legislative Council for further study.

The other bills would have forbidden newspapers from printing horse racing results, required equal space in news columns for political candidates, tightened libel laws and required publication of stockholders' names.

The measures were introduced in the wake of criticism of newspapers for their coverage of the slot machine debate in the House of Delegates last week.

Sponsors of the measures were Del. Ernest D. Young, D-Balto 4th and Norman R. Stone Jr. and B. J. Medairy Jr., both Democrats from Baltimore County.

Elliott Levy, the other senior of Elkins Park, Pa., will read her paper at a meeting in New York April 6. The girls wrote the papers as part of their requirements at Chatham College.

It is an unusual honor for an undergraduate student to be selected to present a paper at meetings of the association.

Miss George is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1959, where she was active in school affairs. She was a member of the United Nations Club, National Honor Society, ADK and SID dramatic groups, Future Teacher of America, Tri-Hi-Y, language and choral clubs, and Girls Athletic Association. She was also a member of the school band and a majorette, and participated in the Youth and Government program at Annapolis.

She is an active member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Calvary Church Holds Youth Services

Seventy-five members of the Awana girls and boys clubs of Cresaptown attended Thursday night services.

Tonight Mr. Martin will speak on "American Youth in Trouble."

Tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. his subject will be "I Am The Door" and at 7:30 p.m., "Operation Crossroads."

All Visiting Bans Lifted At County Institutions

Dr. L. B. Matthews, Allegany County physician, has lifted all visiting restrictions at the three county institutions.

The ban was put into effect about six weeks ago because of the prevalence of respiratory illnesses.

A partial lifting of restrictions was announced last week to allow members of immediate families to visit relatives at the institutions.

Senate Passes Bill To Limit Credit Charges

Stampede Comes On 8th Roll Call

BY GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Maryland Senate ended one of its most prolonged struggles in many years Friday by approving 23-3 the regulation of credit charges amidst strong criticism of lobbyists.

"The most vicious lobby I have seen in many years," Sen. Frederick C. Malkus, D-Dorchester, said of representatives for stores who had been first solidly behind the regulation and then against when proposed ceiling charges were lowered.

Sen. John L. Sanford Jr., D-Worcester, also criticized what he called "buttonholing of senators to change their votes," and identified two of the lobbyists.

Back And Forth

He said one was a distinguished lawyer from Baltimore and "that man William Ewald." Frank A. Kaufman, the lawyer, coordinated presentation of testimony in behalf of the stores at committee hearings. Ewald is executive secretary of two associations of merchants.

Sanford said Ewald had made charges against members of the legislature at a party. "If he has any evidence, he should go to the State's attorney of Anne Arundel County."

Both Sanford and Malkus said they contemplated legislation next year for stricter control of lobbyists. They now are required to register with the secretary of state and report any fees after the session.

The senate spent another hour of wrangling before taking its eighth and last roll call on the issue which had been back and forth on its calendar 11 times since Feb. 26.

Change Position

It started with the stores wanting to charge a monthly interest rate on continuing credit balances of 1% for additional. The senate voted against it 17-10.

It was asked to reconsider, but Tuesday voted 15-14 to lower the rates to 1 and two-thirds of one percent.

The stampede to adopt them Friday afternoon was aided by President William S. James, D-Harford, and majority leader H. Winship Wheatley Jr. Both had voted against the lower rates originally.

But each explained they felt that regulation of the retail credit practices was necessary. The stores now may set their own charges on installment sales and credit accounts.

The department would be required to designate facilities for housing the prisoners, or contract for quartering them in local subdivisions if none is available near the place of employment.

If a prisoner fails to return to the place of confinement at the specified time, he would be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to additional penalties.

The inmate would be required to surrender his total earnings, minus payroll deductions, to the Department of Correction. The department would deduct the cost to the state for providing food, lodging and clothing, the expenses incurred while the prisoner is released from confinement, and his legal obligations for support of dependents.

Any balance remaining after such deductions would be credited to the prisoner's account and be paid him on release from confinement.

The bill now goes to the house for consideration.

Life Story Of Gary Cooper Set

appear in my biggest film, 'Lilac Time'. I thought this young cowboy was just right. It was his second big picture, and it helped him to stardom."

Jean Arthur, who co-starred with Cooper in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" and "The Plainsman," agrees. "Making a Gary Cooper picture was for me a happy and exciting experience," she says.

Longtime Hollywood great William Holden, a close personal friend, has this to say: "In every generation there seems to be a who not only succeeds in his particular endeavor but who also has that remarkable quality of being loved by everyone with whom he comes into contact. Coop was one of these."

Former film great Colleen Moore, now Mrs. Homer Hargrave of Chicago, gave Cooper one of his first big motion picture breaks.

"I first saw Gary in a Western picture at Catalina Island," remembers this wide-eyed leading lady of the silent era. "We had been looking for a leading man to

Jack Benny remembers that "all through his brilliant career, our friendship was more than just good fellowship. It was his philosophy of life that was such a great inspiration to me."

Richard Arlen appeared in three well-remembered films with Cooper, "Wings," "The Virginian" and "Paramount On Parade," and he knew Gary both as a friend and as a fellow player. Arlen recalls Coop as "a man with an extremely subtle sense of humor, but with unbelievable determination and integrity."

Producer Samuel Goldwyn, however, agrees with no one who calls Cooper "a silent man. My experience was just the reverse."

Carl Sandburg said there was "a lack of the phony about him." Greer Garson said that Cooper's appeal "is that you can be understood everywhere." Audrey Hepburn described her co-star as "a male over six feet in length, lanky and bright-eyed . . . a Gary Cooper is rare, and there will never be another under the sun."

Such tributes are not easily come by, particularly when voiced by colleagues. But Gary Cooper, beloved by so many, was indeed a man of sterling character.

And that is precisely the portrait Donald Hyatt's NBC-TV Project Twenty unit will try to paint in the March 26 television portrait of "The Tall American—Gary Cooper." Coop's friend Walter Brennan will serve as host and narrator.

'Password' Will Bat Against Mighty Casey

By RUTH H. THOMPSON

March swung in like a lion in videoland if not elsewhere. Drastic spring changes in network program lineups are underway and to give you an idea of what's going on, CBS is moving Allen Ludden and "Password" away from Sundays and up to bat against the mighty Casey ("Ben . . .") that is beginning Monday March 25 (10 p. m. EST).

What does it all mean?

Well, for one thing it's a break with the still too prevalent tradition of pitting like against like (drama against drama in the old Monday night lineup with "The Loretta Young Show"—now exiting—as the former CBS contender). In giving its vote of confidence to "Password" the CBS brass is not dabbling with an unknown quantity. The word-association game show, with panels comprised of show business "big names" and non-professionals, has proven its appeal since it started as a daytimer two years ago.

And how does Allen Ludden feel about the move?

"Well, it's a challenge," grinned the crew-cut emcee who's never been a man to duck one.

He's mighty fond of the show himself. "After all I gave up my executive job at CBS in 1961 in favor of performing and I chose 'Password' when I had to decide between it and 'College Bowl'." An observer would surmise neither could have been easy decisions; he did seem to have the best of both worlds with the executive-performer combination and as for "College Bowl" . . . it had been his baby since radio.

I recalled talking to a college student visiting New York who said he thought his folks would get a kick out of seeing him on television, watched likely shows for a week, found "Password" to his taste and applied. He passed the required tests, got on the show, looked great and then—bright lad though he was—washed out before any big prizes came his way. "Not as easy as you think," he said, "but certainly fun."

Allen does have one misgiving about the move to Monday night, though, he explained over lunch last week. "The program is used as a teaching aid in many schools. The new time may be too late for some of the kids . . . and I hate to lose them."

EMCEE — Allen Ludden (above), until two years ago a CBS executive, finds success of his "Password" show enough for network to move from Sunday to Monday nights. Before becoming "Password" emcee, Ludden handled "College Bowl."

Marilyn Monroe Filmed 'Special' Set For Sunday

Special theme music for the half-hour biography special "Marilyn Monroe" (March 24, ABC-TV, 9:30 p. m.) was written by Academy Award nominee Elmer Bernstein.

The film biography of "the girl who lived one of Hollywood's greatest and saddest stories" was written by Marvin Wald, who has created more than 200 dramatic and documentary stories for both television and motion pictures.

Narrator for the program will be Mike Wallace.

Frank Faylen, television father of "Dobie Gillis," has appeared in more than 230 motion pictures.

Life Story Of Gary Cooper Set

appear in my biggest film, 'Lilac Time'. I thought this young cowboy was just right. It was his second big picture, and it helped him to stardom."

Jean Arthur, who co-starred with Cooper in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" and "The Plainsman," agrees. "Making a Gary Cooper picture was for me a happy and exciting experience," she says.

Longtime Hollywood great William Holden, a close personal friend, has this to say: "In every generation there seems to be a who not only succeeds in his particular endeavor but who also has that remarkable quality of being lover by everyone with whom he comes into contact. Coop was one of these."

Jack Benny remembers that "all through his brilliant career, our friendship was more than just good fellowship. It was his philosophy of life that was such a great inspiration to me."

Richard Arlen appeared in three well-remembered films with Cooper, "Wings," "The Virginian" and "Paramount On Parade," and he knew Gary both as a friend and as a fellow player. Arlen recalls Coop as "a man with an extremely subtle sense of humor, but with unbelievable determination and integrity."

Producer Samuel Goldwyn, however, agrees with no one who calls Cooper "a silent man. My experience was just the reverse.

Carl Sandburg said there was "a lack of the phony about him." Greer Garson said that Cooper's appeal "is that you can be understood everywhere." Audrey Hepburn described her co-star as "a male over six feet in length, lanky and bright-eyed . . . a Gary Cooper is rare, and there will never be another under the sun."

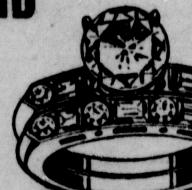

Such tributes are not easily come by, particularly when voiced by colleagues. But Gary Cooper, beloved by so many, was indeed a man of sterling character.

And that is precisely the portrait Donald Hyatt's NBC-TV Project Twenty unit will try to paint in the March 26 television portrait of "The Tall American—Gary Cooper." Coop's friend Walter Brennan will serve as host and narrator.

'Password' Will Bat Against Mighty Casey

By RUTH H. THOMPSON

March swung in like a lion in videoland if not elsewhere. Drastic spring changes in network program lineups are underway and to give you an idea of what's going on, CBS is moving Allen Ludden and "Password" away from Sundays and up to bat against the mighty Casey ("Ben . . .") that is) beginning Monday March 25 (10 p. m. EST).

What does it all mean?

Well, for one thing it's a break with the still too prevalent tradition of pitting like against like (drama against drama in the old Monday night lineup with "The Loretta Young Show"—now exiting—as the former CBS contender). In giving its vote of confidence to "Password" the CBS brass is not dabbling with an unknown quantity. The word-association game show, with panels comprised of show business "big names" and non-professionals, has proven its appeal since it started as a daytimer two years ago.

And how does Allen Ludden feel about the move?

"Well, it's a challenge," grinned the crew-cut emcee who's never been a man to duck one.

He's mighty fond of the show himself. "After all I gave up my executive job at CBS in 1961 in favor of performing and I chose 'Password' when I had to decide between it and 'College Bowl.'" An observer would surmise neither could have been easy decisions; he did seem to have the best of both worlds with the executive-performer combination and as for "College Bowl" . . . it had been his baby since radio.

I recalled talking to a college student visiting New York who said he thought his folks would get a kick out of seeing him on television, watched likely shows for a week, found "Password" to his taste and applied. He passed the required tests, got on the show, looked great and then—bright lad though he was—washed out before any big prizes came his way. "Not as easy as you think," he said, "but certainly fun."

Allen does have one misgiving about the move to Monday night, though, he explained over lunch last week. "The program is used as a teaching aid in many schools. The new time may be too late for some of the kids . . . and I hate to lose them."

EMCEE — Allen Ludden (above), until two years ago a CBS executive, finds success of his "Password" show enough for network to move from Sunday to Monday nights. Before becoming "Password" emcee, Ludden handled "College Bowl."

Marilyn Monroe Filmed 'Special' Set For Sunday

Special theme music for the half-hour biography special "Marilyn Monroe" (March 24, ABC-TV, 9:30 p. m.) was written by Academy Award nominee, Elmer Bernstein.

The film biography of "the girl who lived one of Hollywood's greatest and saddest stories" was written by Marvin Wald, who has created more than 200 dramatic and documentary stories for both television and motion pictures.

Narrator for the program will be Mike Wallace.

Frank Faylen, television father of "Dobie Gillis," has appeared in more than 230 motion pictures.
